Antigone Notebook Major Assessment

Requirements

- All work will be submitted in some form of notebook. A three-prong folder is preferable, but a three-binder is acceptable as well. If you have a conflict or need help, please come talk to me.
- All text will be typed or handwritten neatly in blue or black ink. Typed is preferred but not required. You may use the classroom computer during lunch as well as before and after school. However, this assignment may not be submitted by email or Google docs. You must print it out.
- The notebook will include a cover page with your name, class, and date. The second page will be a table of contents listing all the required items in order and with corresponding page numbers to the bottom right hand corner of each page.

Important things to know

- You will have some class time to work on this, but you will need to complete some of it on your own.
- This is a major assessment worth a significant grade. You will not earn a good grade for simply throwing something together and putting your name at the top. Make sure it is neat, legible, and your best work. Your grade will reflect the amount of time and effort you put into it.

Table of Contents

1. Background notes & character list
2. Character chart
3. Character comparison
4. Plot diagram
5. Timeline
6. Conflict chart
7. Tone
8. Important quotes
9. Reader response journal (20 entries)
10. Study questions

Background notes & character list

- These should already be complete. I gave you the notes in class, and you copied the list of characters before we began reading the play.
- At the beginning, I asked you to copy a list of the characters into your notes. Make sure you have updated the character list with information about each character. It should be 2-3 lines of description for each.

Character Chart

- This is different from the character list. You will examine relationships in this one.

Character	Relationships	Characteristics	Loyalty
Antigone
Ismene
Creon
Eurydice
Haemon
Tiresias
Chorus
Guard

Character Comparison

- Draw a venn diagram where you compare Antigone to her sister Ismene.
- On the back side draw a second diagram where you compare Creon & Haemon.
- Use white paper. Use different colors for each circle as well as the center.

Plot diagram

- Complete a plot diagram that outlines the important events in the play. Provide a general description for each of the 5 areas and include page and line numbers.

Timeline

- Make a timeline of the important events in the play. Include at least 5 events. Provide the page and line numbers and a brief description of the event on the top. Explain why you chose the event on the bottom.

Conflict Chart

- Both Antigone and Creon have a tragic flaw. For Antigone it is her stubborn will and loyalty to the gods. Creon is stubborn as well, but his tragic flaw is his hubris, or pride. You will create a chart that shows how this flaw leads to conflict and eventually each character's downfall.

	Man vs Self	Man vs Man	Man vs Society
Antigone	Brief description Page # and Line #
Creon

Tone

- Choose one character from the play that has a long monologue or speech (at least 15 lines).
- Copy the line and page numbers.
- Explain who is speaking and to whom.
- Using one of the vocabulary words we have studied, describe the character's tone.
- Provide support with direct quotes from the text.

Important quotes

- Choose 5 quotes from the play that you feel are significant (you may use quotes you identified in your Reader Response Journal.)
- Explain who is speaking and to whom.
- Write the page and line number.
- Copy the quote and explain why you chose it.

Creon to Tiresias
Lines 1157-1161
p 51

“No, reverend old Tiresias, all men fall, it’s only human, but the wisest fall obscenely when they glorify obscene advice with rhetoric—All for their own gain.”

This quote shows that Creon is paranoid. He doesn’t want to admit that he is responsible for the plague on Thebes as Tiresias describes. Instead he accuses the seer of being bribed.

Reader Response Journal

- 5 entries per day of in class reading.
- You will have 25 entries

Creon: “No? Believe me, the stiffest stubborn wills fall the hardest” line 528-535 p 30 (World Drama)

Creon is pointing out that Antigone’s stubbornness will lead to her downfall. He refers to her as a slave and is very angry that she will not obey him. The theme of obeying authority continues here.

Study Questions

- You have been given the list of questions in class.
- You may type or write your answers.
- Be sure to use complete sentences and answer all parts of a question, especially if it asks you to explain why. An answer should never be a simple yes or no.
- You do not need to provide textual support (direct quotes). However, you do need to be specific when you answer.
