10.1 Nouns

- A noun is a word that names a person, a place, a thing, or an idea.
  - PERSON teacher, uncle, niece, sister-in-law
  - PLACE garage, city, park, school
  - THING paw, giraffe, bicycle, ice cream, doorknob
  - IDEA democracy, fame, love, disappointment

Exercise 1 Identifying Nouns

On your paper, list the twenty-five nouns that appear in the following literary passage.

Literature: In a New Country

Hanging from a cord attached to the middle of the ceiling there was an electric bulb, low enough for an adult to reach and turn the black switch. I realized that this was our own electric light for us to turn on and off as we pleased. I pushed a chair under it and after some instruction from my mother proceeded to create lightning in the room by turning the switch as fast as I could.

Next I discovered the bedsprings. When I sat on the bed it sank deliciously. Jumping on it in my stocking feet, I held my balance dangerously as I made the bed creak and the mattress bounce. The head and foot of the bed were made of iron scrollwork in loops and rosettes painted white.

From Barrio Boy by Ernesto Galarza

Singular and Plural Nouns

- Nouns can be singular or plural, depending upon whether they name one person, place, thing, or idea or more than one.

To form the plural of most nouns, add -s. Other plural nouns are formed in different ways. For nouns ending in -s, -ch, -sh, -x, or -zz, add -es to form the plural. For nouns ending in -y preceded by a consonant, change the -y to -i and add -es. For most nouns ending in -f or -fe, change -f to -v and add -es. Other nouns have irregular plurals (e.g., woman, women). Some nouns do not change form from singular to plural (e.g., sheep, sheep).

Singular boy, body, watch, wife, ox
Plural boys, bodies, watches, wives, oxen

Exercise 3  Forming the Plurals of Nouns

Possessive Nouns

The possessive form of a noun can show possession, ownership, or the general relationship between two nouns. Add an apostrophe and -s to form the possessive of a singular noun, even one that already ends in -s. Use an apostrophe alone to form the possessive of a plural noun that ends in -s.

SINGULAR POSSESSIVE
- the car’s hood
- a baby’s bottle
- the dish’s pattern
- a valley’s towns
- the calf’s mother
- the business’s payroll

PLURAL POSSESSIVE
- the cars’ hoods
- the babies’ bottles
- the dishes’ patterns
- the valleys’ towns
- the calves’ mother
- the businesses’ payrolls

Add an apostrophe and -s to form the possessive of a plural noun that does not end in -s.

- the women’s decision

9. applause  19. eagerness
10. sundowns  20. softness

Exercise 9  Writing Sentences with Abstract Nouns

On your paper, write five sentences about what you think is important in life. In each sentence, use at least one abstract noun to identify a goal, idea, or personal trait you admire. Underline each abstract noun.
Proper and Common Nouns

- A proper noun is the name of a particular person, place, thing, or idea.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Proper Nouns</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Person</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Place</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Thing</td>

Exercise 11  Naming Proper Nouns

On your paper, add one more proper noun to each category that follows.

1. Wisconsin, North Dakota, New York, Georgia, _____
2. Atlantic, Antarctic, Indian, Arctic, _____
Collective Nouns

A collective noun names a group.

- family
- (the) public
- team
- (the) press
- (the) senate
- (a) gaggle (of geese)
- (an) audience
- (the) board (of directors)

A collective noun is sometimes considered singular and sometimes considered plural. You consider a collective noun singular when you talk about a group as a whole. You consider a collective noun plural when you talk about the individual members of a group.

Singular
- The audience shouts its approval.

Plural
- The audience have arrived in small groups.

Exercise 12 Identifying Collective Nouns

On your paper, list five collective nouns from each of the following paragraphs.

Porgy and Bess

1. The Metropolitan Opera’s 1985 production of George Gershwin’s Porgy and Bess had a chorus of seventy voices. 2. The cast included such noted stars as Grace Bumbry and Simon Estes. 3. The orchestra was conducted by James Levine. 4. The audience had bought their tickets well in advance for all sixteen performances. 5. The huge stage was filled with people representing the population of Catfish Row.

Animal Life in Africa

1. In Africa a team of zoologists can observe many kinds of wild animals. 2. In a western forest might be seen a family of chimpanzees. 3. In the eastern grasslands, quiet watchers might spy a herd of roaming zebras. 4. In the northern desert, a flock of ostriches is not an uncommon sight. 5. The African continent has an extraordinary collection of animal life.

The Power of the Press

1. The press plays an important and powerful role in contemporary life. 2. Television news programs, newspapers, and periodicals reach a large and eager audience. 3. As a result, journalists have a strong influence on society. 4. Sometimes a team of reporters can make or break a candidate’s campaign for office. 5. To make an informed choice, the public must separate fact from opinion.

3. Michael, Pedro, Gregory, Joel, _____
5. France, Ghana, Malaysia, Argentina, _____
Exercise 13  Identifying Nouns

On your paper, identify each underlined noun as common, proper, or collective, depending upon how the noun is used in the sentence. Some nouns may belong in more than one category.

The Trail of Tears

In 1838 sixteen thousand Cherokee were forced from their homes in the Old South. Under armed guard, the mass of Native Americans was pushed west across the Mississippi River to Oklahoma’s Indian Territory. Other cultures, including the Creek, Choctaw, and Chickasaw nations, were included in the removal program. Many historians refer to this journey west as the Trail of Tears. They estimate that as many as a quarter of the group may have died during the long and arduous migration.

Some Native Americans rebelled against the removal program, while others fled to Canada or Mexico. The Cherokee led the most organized resistance. They had their own written language; their own newspaper, the Cherokee Phoenix; tax-supported schools; and a written constitution. The Cherokee nation also had the sympathy of some members of Congress and of other government officials. Although the Cherokee took legal action, they never were able to regain their homelands.

Exercise 14  Creating Sentences with Nouns

On your paper, write five sentences about a shop in your town or neighborhood. Use concrete nouns to convey a vivid picture of the place.

Exercise 15  Completing Sentences with Nouns

On your paper, complete the paragraphs below by filling in each of the twenty blanks with the kind of noun specified in italic typeface. Be sure that your completed sentences make sense.

Thanksgiving Day

The festive abstract of the Thanksgiving concrete filled our concrete. proper and concrete told us the common of the proper who prepared the first Thanksgiving feast. All of the young common listened. The table, set with our best concrete, held steaming platters of concrete and concrete. For common each of us had a generous common of concrete.

After dinner we sat by the blazing concrete, and proper and concrete told us that it was President Lincoln who declared Thanksgiving an official holiday. Then we turned on the concrete and watched proper and concrete. Later that common, we agreed that we had had so much good abstract we wished that proper came more than once a year.
A pronoun is a word that takes the place of a noun, a group of words acting as a noun, or another pronoun. The word or group of words to which a pronoun refers is called its antecedent. A pronoun must agree in number and gender with its antecedent.

When James Baldwin was fourteen years old, he became a preacher. [The pronoun he takes the place of its proper noun antecedent, James Baldwin.]

When Georgia O’Keeffe and Alfred Stieglitz were married in 1924, both were famous artists. [The pronoun both takes the place of the nouns Georgia O’Keeffe and Alfred Stieglitz.]

Although Georgia O’Keeffe herself was a painter, her husband was a photographer. [The pronouns herself and her take the place of the noun Georgia O’Keeffe.]

English pronouns fall into these categories: personal and possessive pronouns, reflexive and intensive pronouns, demonstrative pronouns, interrogative pronouns, relative pronouns, and indefinite pronouns.

Personal and Possessive Pronouns

A personal pronoun refers to a specific person or thing by indicating the person speaking (the first person), the person being addressed (the second person), or any other person or thing being discussed (the third person).

Personal pronouns also express number; they are either singular or plural.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>

</tbody>
</table>

FIRST PERSON I kept the dog. [I refers to the person speaking.]

SECOND PERSON The dog was afraid of you. [You refers to the person being addressed.]

THIRD PERSON It ran away. [It refers to the dog mentioned in the previous sentence.]

Third-person pronouns also express gender. He and him are masculine; she and her are feminine; it is neuter (neither masculine nor feminine).
The personal pronouns include several forms that indicate possession or ownership.

- A possessive pronoun takes the place of the possessive form of a noun.

Possessive Pronouns

<td>their, theirs</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Some possessive forms are used before nouns. Other possessive forms can be used by themselves. Notice that possessive pronouns do not contain an apostrophe.

USED BEFORE A NOUN

Take your bathing suit.

USED ALONE

That bathing suit is yours.

Exercise 16 Using Personal and Possessive Pronouns

Improve the following paragraph by replacing the underlined words or groups of words with personal or possessive pronouns. Write your answers on your paper.

Isamu Noguchi, Sculptor

Isamu Noguchi is famous for Noguchi’s striking abstract sculptures. These sculptures can be seen in museums everywhere. Noguchi’s father was a Japanese poet, and Noguchi’s mother was an American writer. As a young man in Paris, Noguchi studied with the sculptor Constantin Brancusi, who encouraged Noguchi to work in abstract forms. In the 1930s, Noguchi settled in New York. Soon, Noguchi’s spare and elegant sculptures were being exhibited, and many people went to see the sculptures. One admirer, Martha Graham, invited Noguchi to create sets for Martha Graham’s dance company. Noguchi also designed sculpture gardens, as well as furniture and lamps. Noguchi’s later interest in architectural forms and design is reflected in the monumental Red Cube (1968). Red Cube stands outside the Marine Midland Building in New York.

Exercise 17 Creating Sentences with Personal and Possessive Pronouns

On your paper, write five sentences about someone or something that is special to you. Be sure to describe what you consider to be important or unique about the person or item. Use at least five personal or possessive pronouns. Then underline all the personal and possessive pronouns in your sentences.
Reflexive and Intensive Pronouns

Reflexive and intensive pronouns are formed by adding -self or -selves to certain personal and possessive pronouns.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Reflexive and Intensive Pronouns</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>First Person</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Second Person</td>

</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

- A reflexive pronoun refers, or reflects back, to a noun or pronoun earlier in the sentence.

  A reflexive pronoun always adds information to a sentence.

  You outdid yourself when you wrote that song.

  Cathy always timed herself when jogging.

  In dancing class we watch ourselves in the mirror.

  The basketball players prepared themselves for the game.

- An intensive pronoun adds emphasis to another noun or pronoun in the same sentence.

  I myself ate the pizza.

  The team itself chose the captain.

  Maria herself opened the door.

  George and Pedro planned the party themselves.

  An intensive pronoun does not add information to a sentence. If the intensive pronoun is left out, the sentence still has the same meaning. An intensive pronoun usually comes immediately after its antecedent.
Demonstrative Pronouns

- A demonstrative pronoun points out specific persons, places, things, or ideas.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Demonstrative Pronouns</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Singular</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Plural</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

This is your homeroom.

These are your classmates.

That will be your seat.

Carla’s desk is cleaner than those. [Those refers to other desks.]

A demonstrative pronoun can come before or after its antecedent. Sometimes the antecedent is understood.

Exercise 18 Using Reflexive, Intensive, and Demonstrative Pronouns

Supply the appropriate reflexive, intensive, or demonstrative pronoun for each blank. Write your answers on your paper.

An Orchestra Performance

1. He reminded __________ to watch the conductor’s baton.
2. The string, woodwind, brass, and percussion sections had prepared __________ during rehearsals.

7. __________ is a very moving piece of music.
8. We were so inspired by the occasion that our instruments seemed to play __________.
9. Afterward we all felt very proud of __________.
10. “Take __________,” the concert manager said, handing several bouquets to the conductor.
Interrogative and Relative Pronouns

- An interrogative pronoun is used to form questions.

  who? whom? whose? what? which?

  Who will lead the way? What makes a good leader? Whom would you choose? Which of these paths is easiest? Whose is the lightest pack?

  The interrogative pronouns include the forms whoever, whomever, whichever, and whatever.

  Whoever could have made such a mistake?

- A relative pronoun is used to begin a special subject-verb word group called a subordinate clause (see Unit 13).

  who whoever which that whom whomever whichever what whose whosoever whatever

  The people who invented Monopoly were surprised by its success. [The relative pronoun who begins the subordinate clause who invented Monopoly.]

  Dominoes is a game that many Texans play. [The relative pronoun that begins the subordinate clause that many Texans play.]

Exercise 19 Distinguishing Between Interrogative and Relative Pronouns

On your paper, list the relative and interrogative pronouns that appear in the following sentences, and label each pronoun as relative or interrogative.

Harriet Tubman, a Courageous Woman

1. Harriet Tubman, who was born an enslaved person in 1820, became a leader of the antislavery movement.
2. Who would have anticipated her development into one of the most powerful speakers in the United States?
3. Tubman, whose maiden name was Greene, married John Tubman.
4. She led hundreds of fugitive slaves along the Underground Railroad, a secret route that led from the South to Canada.
5. Which of her many talents did she use during the Civil War?
6. She did many jobs for the Union army, which fought to abolish slavery.
7. What did her fellow abolitionists call her?
8. Whatever she did, she lived up to her nickname, General Tubman.
9. Whom did she look after in the years following the Civil War?
10. She looked after orphans and old people, whom she loved dearly.
Indefinite Pronouns

- An indefinite pronoun refers to persons, places, or things in a more general way than a noun does.

  Everyone needs food. [The indefinite pronoun everyone refers to people in general.]

  Did you get enough to eat? [The indefinite pronoun enough refers to a general, not a specific, amount.]

  After two hamburgers he did not want another. [The indefinite pronoun another has the antecedent hamburger.]

Exercise 20
Creating Sentences with Indefinite Pronouns

On your paper, write ten sentences with indefinite pronouns. Use at least eight different indefinite pronouns; refer to the chart if you need help. Underline the indefinite pronouns in your sentences.

Exercise 21
Identifying Pronouns

(a) On your paper, list in order the twenty-five pronouns that appear in the following paragraph. (b) Identify each pronoun as personal, possessive, reflexive, intensive, demonstrative, interrogative, relative, or indefinite.

A Great Magician

1Harry Houdini, a great magician who was born Erik Weisz, used a stage name borrowed from an earlier French magician called Houdin. 2Whereas many of Houdin’s illusions were optical ones, those that made Harry Houdini famous were daring escapes from complex traps—most of them designed by Houdini himself. 3The most famous escape of all was the water-torture trick, in which Houdini, whose hands and feet were bound, was locked in a water-filled tank, only to emerge safe and free a moment later. 4Audiences would ask themselves, What does Houdini do to free himself? 5Wouldn’t you wonder about this yourself? 6Actually, Houdini created much of his magic by practicing yoga techniques, learning to survive on less oxygen than most of us need. 7Whose name is synonymous with magic? 8That is a question everyone can answer: it is Houdini’s.
10.3 Verbs

- A verb is a word that expresses action or a state of being and is necessary to make a statement.

The violinists begin. Rehearsals are important.
A flutist entered late. The conductor seems enthusiastic.

The primary characteristic of a verb is its ability to express time—present, past, and future. Verbs express time by means of tense forms.

PRESENT TENSE They walk home together.

PAST TENSE They walked home together.

FUTURE TENSE They will walk home together.

Exercise 22 Identifying Verbs in Sentences

On your paper, write the verbs that appear in each of the following sentences.

1. National parks in the American Southwest include Bryce Canyon, Zion, Mesa Verde, and Grand Canyon.
2. Over the centuries, water and wind erosion change the land dramatically.
3. Each park’s natural features attract people of all ages.
4. An information center at the entrance to the park offers exhibits, maps, and publications.
5. Park rangers provide little-known facts about the history of the park.

7. Navajo women still _____ rugs on handmade looms.
8. The Hopi people still _____ ancient rain dances.
9. The Native Americans of the Southwest _____ proud of their heritage.
10. Despite modern intrusions, many of their traditions _____ unchanged.
Action Verbs

- An action verb tells what someone or something does.

Some action verbs express physical action; others express mental action.

PHYSICAL ACTION
The catcher often signals to the pitcher.

MENTAL ACTION
A good catcher understands the batter’s technique.

- A transitive verb is an action verb that is followed by a word or words that answer the question what? or whom?

  Cats see their prey in the dark. [The action verb see is followed by the noun prey, which answers the question see what?]

- An intransitive verb is an action verb that is not followed by a word that answers the question what? or whom?

  Cats see well in the dark. [The action verb may be followed by words that tell how and where or by no words at all.]

Exercise 24  Identifying Action Verbs

On your paper write the action verbs that appear in the following sentences. Indicate whether each action verb is used as a transitive or an intransitive verb.

Sacajawea, an Intrepid Woman

Verb Phrases

The verb in a sentence may consist of more than one word. The words that accompany the main verb are called auxiliary, or helping, verbs.

A verb phrase consists of a main verb and all its auxiliary, or helping, verbs.

The most common auxiliary verbs are the forms of be and have. They help the main verb express the various tenses.

We are working in the yard.
We have worked for the past two weeks.
We had been working for an hour before the storm.

The other auxiliary verbs are not used primarily to express time. They are often used to emphasize meaning.

I should be leaving.
Could he have finished?
Luisa may already be waiting.

Exercise 31 Using Auxiliary Verbs

On your paper, write two revisions of each sentence below by changing the italicized verb phrase. Remember that you will probably have to change the main verb as well as the auxiliary verb. Underline the verb phrase in each sentence you write.

SAMPLE  I am going.

Exercise 48 Using Adjectives in Writing

On your paper, complete the paragraphs below by replacing each blank with an adjective, including definite and indefinite articles. Be sure that your completed sentences make sense.

Corn

1. Corn is an important crop in the United States. The country’s annual production is more than six billion bushels, accounting for almost half the total world production. Illinois is a(n) producer, along with several other states. Most of the corn grown in the United States is used as feed for animals such as hogs, cattle, and chickens. Although corn is a(n) source of energy, it is low in protein.

2. Each corn plant has a(n) stem, averaging eight feet in height. The ear of corn is protected by husk. The tassels at the tip of the ear of corn contain pollen.

3. There are different types of corn, and all of them have a specific use. Sweet corn is often served as a(n) dish at meals. Popcorn is a(n) snack throughout the United States. During the fall, many people use pod corn as a(n) decoration. Even the other parts of the corn plant have uses. For example, corncobs are ground to make abrasives for cleaning engines.

4. No one knows where or when plants were first farmed, but corn was important staple in the diet of Native Americans by the 1600s. When the colonists arrived in the Massachusetts Bay Colony, Squanto taught them how to grow and harvest corn. Without his help, the colony might not have survived.
An adverb is a word that modifies a verb, an adjective, or another adverb by making its meaning more specific.

The following sentences illustrate the use of adverbs to modify verbs, adjectives, and adverbs.

She always waited patiently.

The waiting room was very noisy and overly crowded.

Rather oddly, we have almost never visited his farm.

Adverbs modify by answering the questions when? where? how? and to what degree?

I will call tomorrow.

His phone rings often.

The speaker will stand here.

Kim carefully polished the car.

We were truly sorry.

When an adverb modifies a verb, it may be placed in various positions in relation to the verb. When an adverb modifies an adjective or another adverb, it usually comes directly before the modified word.

MODIFYING A VERB

Finally the storm is ending.

The storm finally is ending.

The storm is finally ending.

The storm is ending finally.

MODIFYING AN ADJECTIVE

The snow was quite heavy.

Driving was very hazardous.

MODIFYING AN ADVERB

It almost never snows this heavily.

I hardly ever need to wear my boots.
Negative Words as Adverbs

The word not and the contraction n’t are considered adverbs. Other negative words can function as adverbs of time and place.

- The plane has not landed.
- They have hardly boarded.
- The plane is nowhere in sight.
- I have never flown.

Exercise 49  Identifying Words Modified by Adverbs

On your paper, write the word or words that are being modified by the adverb in italics in each sentence.

9. To the strains of her national anthem, the Kenyan runner accepted the gold medal.
10. The French runner shook her opponent’s hand.
Exercise 56  Following Models

A Tom Swifty is a sentence in which an adverb comments in a humorous way on an action or object mentioned in a quotation. Note the relationship between each adverb and quotation in the following examples:

“Will you hang up these wet clothes?” asked Ben dryly.

“I’ve never seen such flat land,” said the farmer plainly.

(a) For items 1–5, write each Tom Swifty on your paper, completing it with an adverb that comments in a humorous way on the quotation. (b) For items 6–10, write a Tom Swifty of your own, using the adverb provided. Consult a dictionary if you need help.

1. “Please turn on the light,” requested Sara ________.
2. “I need the sandpaper,” said the carpenter ________.
3. “The temperature is rising,” said the weather forecaster ________.
4. “Be careful with that knife!” warned Hiroshi ________.

6. coldly
7. heavily
8. sourly
9. snappily
10. idly

Exercise 57  Identifying Adjectives and Adverbs

On your paper, write each of the twenty adjectives and twenty adverbs that appear in the following paragraph. (Do not include a, an, and the.)

Hurricanes

1Hurricanes are severe storms with extremely strong winds. 2Storms with this name are always limited to the northern Atlantic Ocean. 3The same storm in the western Pacific Ocean is not called a hurricane; it is a typhoon. 4In the Indian Ocean, such storms generally are known as cyclones. 5A hurricane is defined officially as a storm with winds of seventy-five miles an hour. 6Such storms usually start in the North Atlantic and move westward. 7Sometimes they progress northeastward from the Mexican coast. 8They move at approximately ten miles an hour in the beginning and gradually gain speed. 9A fully mature hurricane is almost circular. 10Air pressure in its center, or eye, can be extremely low. 11In the eye the air barely moves, the atmosphere seems strangely calm, and the sky often looks blue. 12Clouds that swirl rapidly outside quickly bring violent winds and torrential rains.
A preposition is a word that shows the relationship of a noun or pronoun to some other word in a sentence.

Prepositions begin phrases that end with a noun or pronoun that is called the object of the preposition.

The silverware is inside the cabinet. [Inside shows the spatial relationship of the silverware and the object of the preposition, cabinet.]

All the guests arrived before dinner. [Before tells the time relationship between the guests’ arrival and the object of the preposition, dinner.]

He brought a gift for the host. [For relates gift to the object of the preposition, host.]

Exercise 58 Identifying Prepositional Phrases

On your paper, list the prepositional phrases that appear in each of the following sentences. Remember that some prepositions are made up of more than one word. (The numeral in parentheses at the end of each item indicates the number of prepositional phrases in that sentence.)

Sonny Rollins, a Great Jazz Saxophonist

1. The great jazz musician Sonny Rollins was born in New York in 1920 to musical parents. (3)
2. Instead of the usual piano, Rollins chose the tenor saxophone for his instrument. (2)
3. Like many jazz musicians, he often improvised on themes within the music. (3)
4. His exceptional album Moving Out put him at the top of his profession. (2)
5. During the late fifties and into the sixties, his work became notable for its energy. (3)
6. Rollins took music out of its usual locations and went beyond the usual limits of the saxophone. (3)
7. Sometimes he would play his saxophone outdoors instead of indoors. (1)
8. Another of his experiments involved making the sound from his saxophone bounce off walls. (3)
9. Rollins continued experiments with music throughout his long career. (2)
10. In addition to his experimental work, Rollins played the music for the movie Alfie. (2)

Exercise 59 Identifying and Replacing Prepositions in Phrases

On your paper, write the preposition that appears in each sentence below. Then rewrite each sentence using a different preposition. You may also need to change the object of the preposition.

1. The basketball game started after seven o’clock.
2. The players eagerly ran onto the court.
3. In spite of the snowstorm, attendance was high.
4. The pep band played loudly during halftime.
5. Aside from a few minor injuries, the game went well.
6. My brother is a cheerleader for the team.
7. He and the other cheerleaders perform during the game.
8. They have attended games throughout the year.
9. They will attend the state tournament with the team members.
10. In addition to cheering, they also like winning.
Conjunctions

- A conjunction is a word that joins single words or groups of words.

Coordinating Conjunctions

- A coordinating conjunction joins words or groups of words that have equal grammatical weight in a sentence.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Coordinating Conjunctions</th>

Two and two are four.
She is good at algebra but not at arithmetic.
We must leave now, or we will be late.
The bell rang, yet everyone remained seated.
He could not sleep, nor would he eat.

When used as a coordinating conjunction, for means “for the reason that” or “because.”
The children were tired, for they had run a long distance.

Exercise 60  Identifying Coordinating Conjunctions

On your paper, write the coordinating conjunctions that appear in the following sentences.

A Monument to Civil Rights

1The civil rights leaders of the 1960s strove to win greater respect, dignity, and political freedom for African Americans. 2Martin Luther King Jr. was the most famous civil rights leader, but he was not the only person to participate in the struggle. 3Ordinary citizens, such as Rosa Parks, who refused to sit at the back of a segregated bus, contributed to the fight for justice and equality. 4Taunts did not deter the civil rights demonstrators, nor did physical abuse.

5A new monument in Alabama commemorates the famous heroes of the movement, yet it does not ignore its anonymous heroes. 6The monument is in the city of Montgomery, for it was there that many famous civil rights demonstrations took place. 7Made of smooth black granite, the monument is simple, yet it is remarkably powerful. 8Water flows gently over the flat surface of the stone and collects in a pool. 9The names of civil rights leaders and the dates of famous events in the struggle are engraved on the stone. 10The monument was designed by the Chinese American architect Maya Lin, who is famous for her bold and austere monument to the veterans of the Vietnam War.
Correlative Conjunctions

- Correlative conjunctions work in pairs to join words and groups of words of equal weight in a sentence.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Correlative Conjunctions</th>
</tr>
</thead>
</table>
| both . . . and
| either . . . or             |

| neither . . . nor             |
| not only . . . but (also)       |
| whether . . . or               |

Correlative conjunctions make the relationship between words or groups of words a little clearer than do coordinating conjunctions.

Exercise 61 Identifying Correlative Conjunctions

On your paper, write both parts of the correlative conjunctions that appear in the following sentences.

Weather Forecasting

1. Just as people are interested in the weather forecast today, so people thousands of years ago tried to predict weather conditions.
2. Methods of predicting the weather have grown not only more complicated but also more accurate.
3. Both modern and ancient cultures have looked to the sky for signs of change in the weather.
4. The predictions of the ancients, whether correct or incorrect, were based on very different methods from those of today.
5. Neither the seemingly essential thermometer nor the equally useful barometer was invented until a few hundred years ago.
6. Both the modern telegraph and the even more recent satellite have made it possible to exchange weather information more rapidly.
7. Satellites are used for early spotting not only of hurricanes but also of tornadoes.
8. Neither high-speed computers nor other advanced technological breakthroughs have revealed all we need to know to predict the weather accurately.
9. The National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration is responsible for both studying the weather and forecasting it.
10. Weather forecasting is an activity not only of government agencies but also of private companies.
Subordinating Conjunctions

A subordinating conjunction joins two clauses, or ideas, in such a way as to make one grammatically dependent upon the other.

The idea, or clause, that a subordinating conjunction introduces is said to be “subordinate,” or dependent, because it cannot stand by itself as a complete sentence.

We raked the leaves because so many had fallen.

We raked the leaves before we had lunch.

When more leaves fall, we will rake again.

10. Finback whales are a valuable catch. They are the mainstay of the whaling industry.
Conjunctive Adverbs

- A conjunctive adverb is used to clarify the relationship between clauses of equal weight in a sentence.

Conjunctive adverbs are usually stronger, more precise, and more formal than coordinating conjunctions.

COORDINATING CONJUNCTION Most people think of deserts as very hot places, but desert nights can be quite cool.

CONJUNCTIVE ADVERB Most people think of deserts as very hot places; however, desert nights can be quite cool.

There are many conjunctive adverbs, and they have several uses, as the following examples show:

- TO REPLACE AND also, besides, furthermore, moreover
- TO REPLACE BUT however, nevertheless, still, though
- TO STATE A RESULT consequently, therefore, so, thus
- TO STATE EQUALITY equally, likewise, similarly

Exercise 65 Identifying Conjunctive Adverbs

On your paper, write the conjunctive adverb in each sentence.

Parts of Speech

This passage from Marilynne Robinson’s novel Housekeeping has been annotated to show some of the parts of speech covered in this unit. Read the passage and do the exercises that follow.

Literature Model

from Housekeeping

by Marilynne Robinson

It was a hard winter, too. The snow crested, finally, far above our heads. It drifted up our eaves on one side of the house. Some houses in Fingerbone simply fell from the weight of snow on their roofs, a source of grave and perpetual anxiety to my great-aunts, who were accustomed to a brick building, and to living below ground. Sometimes the sun would be warm enough to send a thick sheet of snow sliding off the roof, and sometimes the fir trees would shrug, and the snow would fall with surprisingly loud and earthy thuds, which would terrify my great-aunts. . . .

For some reason the lake was a source of particular pleasure to Fingerbone that year. It was frozen solid early and long. Several acres of it were swept, for people brought brooms to tend and expand it, till the cleared ice spread far across the lake. Sledders heaped snow on the shore into a precipitous chute that sent them sailing far across the ice. There were barrels on the shore for fires to be built in, and people brought boxes to sit on and planks and burlap bags to stand on around the barrels, and frankfurters to roast, and clothespins to clip frozen mittens to the lips of barrels. A number of dogs began to spend most of their time at the ice. They were young, leggy dogs, affable and proprietary, and exhilarated by the weather. They liked to play at retrieving bits of ice which sped fantastically fast and far across the lake. The dogs made a gallant and youthful joke of their own strength and speed,
Review: Exercise 1  Identifying Nouns

The following sentences elaborate on ideas from Housekeeping. On your paper, write each of the nouns in these sentences. After each noun, write common, proper, or collective, depending upon how the noun is used in the sentence.

SAMPLE  Housekeeping is about two sisters and their family.

ANSWER  Housekeeping (proper), sisters (common), family (common, collective)

1. The village of Fingerbone, Idaho, endured severe winters.
2. During a particularly bad winter, Fingerbone was nearly buried by a fierce storm.
3. The snowfall was heavy, and temperatures were low.
4. Half of the roof was covered with snow.
5. According to Aunt Lily and Aunt Nona, the house might collapse from the weight.
6. The idea that the house could fall made the aunts nervous.
7. Lily and Nona were even startled by the noise made by huge clumps of falling snow.
8. A crowd of local residents gathered daily at Fingerbone Lake.
9. The lake froze early, well before Thanksgiving Day.
10. A team of sweepers cleared the snow from the icy surface.

18. The sisters skated to the boundary of the swept ice.
19. Later, the two skaters rested on a snowbank and looked at the village.
20. Ruth and her sister returned to their home after hours of fun.
Review: Exercise 2  Using Pronouns Effectively

The paragraph below elaborates on ideas suggested by a passage from Housekeeping that is not reprinted in this textbook. On your paper, write each sentence in the paragraph, substituting pronouns for nouns when a pronoun would make good sense. Do not substitute a pronoun for a noun if the pronoun would make the sentence unclear.

1. Ruth and Ruth’s sister, Lucille, lived in the small town of Fingerbone, Idaho.
2. Ruth’s and Lucille’s grandfather was originally from the Midwest, but the grandfather had come to Idaho years ago and built the grandfather’s home there.
3. Ruth did not remember the grandfather, since the grandfather had died before Ruth was born.
4. Ruth had been raised by Ruth’s grandmother until the grandmother died.
5. Then Ruth’s great-aunts came to Fingerbone to take care of the two girls.
6. The great-aunts were unfamiliar with rural life and did not really enjoy rural life.
7. The great-aunts felt isolated in Fingerbone because of Fingerbone’s small population.
8. The heavy snowfall troubled the great-aunts, and the great-aunts also worried about the great-aunts’ nieces.
9. Ruth did not mind the harsh winter, since Ruth had lived in Fingerbone all Ruth’s life.
10. Ruth often took Ruth’s ice skates with Ruth to school and afterward went to Fingerbone Lake to skate on Fingerbone Lake’s frozen waters.

Review: Exercise 3  Completing Sentences with Pronouns

The following sentences elaborate on ideas suggested by a passage from Housekeeping that is not reprinted in this textbook. On your paper, write the type of pronoun specified in italics for each sentence. Be sure that your completed sentences make sense.

1. Indefinite of the winters in Fingerbone, Idaho, were severe.
2. During a particularly harsh winter, the people found simple ways to amuse reflexive.
3. Indefinite seemed to enjoy sledding down snowy hills and skating on Fingerbone Lake.

Review: Exercise 14 Proofreading

The following passage describes the artist Grandma Moses, whose painting appears on the opposite page. Rewrite the passage, correcting the errors in spelling, capitalization, usage, and grammar. Add any missing punctuation. There are twenty-five errors.

Grandma Moses

Anna Mary Robertson Moses (1860–1961) who was known as Grandma Moses, was born in Greenwich, New York, to a family of Scottish and Irish descent. She begun painting at the age of seventy-seven. During the last two decades of her life, Moses painted hundreds of scenes of rural farm life, she became perhaps the most famous folk painter in America. Encouraged by her father Moses developed her talent for drawing; she, however, had little time to pursue hers interest in art. She married a farmer, Thomas Salmon Moses and bore ten children. She spent much of her life on a dairy farm in the tiny community of Eagle Bridge in upstate New York. She begun to paint seriously only after her arthritis became so crippling that she could no longer work on the farm. A few of her paintings on display at a Eagle Bridge drugstore was discovered by an art collector who happened to pass through town. 9Somewhat taken aback by her sudden fame, Moses was scandalized when both dealers or tourists began to offer large sums for paintings that she thought were worth only a few dollars.

Moses paintings are remarkable for their harmony and detail. 10Although she had no formal training, Moses had a strong intuitive grasp of color, pattern, and design. 11Recorded the landscapes and customs of her rural countryside with the sensitivity of a poet. 12Every detail is carefully observed: the gray cast of the sky on a snowy morning the steam rising from a locomotive, and the straining muscles of a horse pulling a sleigh. 13Moses’s Early Skating, like the passage from Marilynne Robinson’s novel Housekeeping, capture the atmosphere of a small community on a winter day. 14Although the painting depict New York, whereas the novel is set in Idaho, the mood are the same. 15There are a playfulness about the two scenes of children cavorting on the ice. 16There is also a feeling of isolation, as if these two small towns were separated from the outside world by time and winters snowy blanket.
Review: Exercise 15

The following biography of Marilynne Robinson is followed by ten sentences. On your paper, write an appropriate word to complete each sentence. Use the directions in parentheses as a guide. You will need to consult the biography in order to fill in some of the blanks properly.

Marilynne Robinson

Born in 1944, Marilynne Robinson is one of contemporary America’s promising new writers. Her first novel, Housekeeping (published in 1981), was widely acclaimed for its poetic language, its vivid characterizations, and its keen understanding of human nature. Set in an isolated Rocky Mountain community in Idaho, Housekeeping describes two orphaned sisters who are cared for by a number of different guardians, each with her own ideas about what is important in life. This touching story about small-town life earned Robinson the 1982 Ernest Hemingway Foundation Award for Best First Novel. The book was the basis of a critically acclaimed motion picture. Robinson is also the author of a nonfiction book called Mother Country. In addition, she has contributed several stories and articles to Harper’s and other major magazines.

1. The ____________ author Marilynne Robinson was born in 1944. (Add a proper adjective.)
2. Robinson ____________ her novel Housekeeping in 1981. (Add an action verb.)
3. ____________ Housekeeping was only a first novel, it received much critical attention. (Add a subordinating conjunction.)
4. Housekeeping takes place in a remote community in the ____________ of Idaho. (Add a proper noun.)
5. The novel was praised for its ____________ language and keen understanding of human nature. (Add an adjective.)
6. Critics also ____________ applauded its finely drawn and well-developed characters. (Add an adverb.)
7. Housekeeping ____________ a winner of the Ernest Hemingway Foundation Award for Best First Novel. (Add a linking verb.)
8. The ____________ based on the novel was also critically acclaimed. (Add a common noun.)
9. Robinson has not yet published a second novel ____________ has written a nonfiction work titled Mother Country. (Add a coordinating conjunction.)
10. Some of Robinson’s short stories have appeared ____________ Harper’s, the noted literary magazine, as well as other major publications in the United States. (Add a preposition.)
Writing Application

Nouns in Writing

Amy Tan uses nouns in this passage from The Joy Luck Club to convey the bustle and confusion a California girl feels traveling in a foreign country for the first time. Examine the passage, focusing especially on the italicized nouns.

Before the train even comes to a stop, people are bringing down their belongings from above their seats. For a moment there is a dangerous shower of heavy suitcases laden with gifts to relatives, half-broken boxes wrapped in miles of string to keep the contents from spilling out, plastic bags filled with yarn and vegetables and packages of dried mushrooms, and camera cases. And then we are caught in a stream of people rushing, shoving, pushing us along, until we find ourselves in one of a dozen lines waiting to go through customs. I feel as if I were getting on the number 30 Stockton bus in San Francisco. I am in China, I remind myself. And somehow the crowds don’t bother me. It feels right. I start pushing, too.

Techniques with Nouns

Try to apply some of Amy Tan’s writing techniques when you write and revise your own work.

1. Whenever possible, replace general words with precise concrete nouns. Compare the following:

   GENERAL WORDS bags filled with things
   TAN’S VERSION plastic bags filled with yarn and vegetables and packages of dried mushrooms, and camera cases

2. Use proper nouns to help make your writing more specific.

   GENERAL WORDS I am in a foreign country. . . . a crowded bus in a city. . . .
   TAN’S VERSION I am in China. . . . the number 30 Stockton bus in San Francisco. . . .

3. Expand single nouns into longer groups of specific words when you wish to provide more details.

   SINGLE NOUN suitcases
   TAN’S VERSION heavy suitcases laden with gifts to relatives

Practice

Practice these techniques by revising the following passage, using a separate sheet of paper. Pay particular attention to the underlined words.

By seven o’clock on that snowy morning, the park was a scene of great activity. A group of dogs was racing across the area, putting birds to flight. Frantic owners followed, shouting the names of their dogs. Squirrels flicked their tails and scampered to safety. Along the pathway, the dog owners stamped their feet in the snow and chatted about things. Others fed birds that chirped and hopped nervously on the path. Before long, children came running through the park, dragging their toys behind them. Their voices blended with all the other sounds. In a moment, the usually serene park had become quite a hectic place.
